

OMEGA WORKFORCE COMMERCIAL

NEW APPOINTMENT STRENGTHENS COMMERCIAL RECRUITMENT DIVISION

Released 03.08

Recruitment specialist, Rachel Shipton, has taken commercial sector recruitment in the south-west by storm since her new appointment as Commercial Manager for Omega Workforce. Rachel, who has over ten years recruitment experience, is eager to develop Omega Workforce's division dedicated to commercial sector recruitment and is confident that the business will continue to grow from strength to strength.

"Omega is already a huge success story and I am delighted to be on board to further develop the business. Organisations are crying out for experienced and skilled office workers and our team provide resource solutions which include, amongst others, providing secretaries, administrators and customer services personnel."

Omega Workforce is the division of Omega Resource Group plc which specialises in sourcing both temporary and permanent positions across the industrial, commercial and special events sectors.

Ray Pugh, Group Director of Omega Workforce sees the appointment as a significant coup for the company and highlights Omega's position as one of the fastest growing international recruitment businesses within the UK:

"Rachel is a welcome addition to Omega Workforce. She will be managing a team dedicated to providing office-based recruitment solutions to organisations throughout the UK. Initially, the team will be based in Cheltenham but we plan to roll out the business model on a national basis. Our goal is to develop a network of nationwide offices which will mirror the success of Cheltenham Commercial"
